“See the Children through the Trees”

An Exhibit to Benefit New York City Aids Orphans & Parentless Kids Now at Conde Nast Gallery

Exhibit and Silent Bidding Start Now

Live Auction and Gala Thursday, October 15th, 2009

New York City has the most AIDS orphans in the Western World — some 50,000 kids already orphaned or living precariously in a home where a parent struggles, often alone, with this disease.

That is why we have called this exhibit, “See the Children Through the Trees.” Through the extraordinary and beautiful range of tree paintings and artwork, we hope you will also start to see these children.

For orphaned and NYC parentless children, a bid today on a Tree artwork is a chance for them to grow as beautifully as we would wish for children and trees alike.

How to Bid

Bid on all artworks, including the unique celebrity “leaf” autographs, at the silent auction in the lobby of the Conde Nast Building, located at 4 Times Square, Broadway between 42nd and 43rd Streets.

From 9:00 am to 6:00 pm from September 2nd to Thursday, October 15 or at the exciting live auction and gala at the lobby gallery on Thursday October 15th from 6 to 9 pm.

Pre-Publication Price for Special Limited Edition April Gornik

Benefitting Health People’s Kids-Helping-Kids mentoring program which trains older kids with ill, missing or dead parents to be mentors for younger kids in the same tough situation. Started 17 years ago on the desperate plea of mothers with AIDS to help their kids, it is now recognized as a national model for the increasing numbers of parentless kids.
